nashvillefarmersmarket Kicking off a gorgeous Pumpkinfest today with so many pumpkins from @swafford.farms and Simons (for decoration and eating) — plus mums, fall pies, @chefdantemarasco pumpkinbread, apples, @hancockfamilyfarm apple cider and all your favorite greens from @plano_produce.

nashvillefarmersmarket Kudos to Connor Curry, 9, who came all the way from Richmond, Virginia, to walk away with the big prize from our Night Market watermelon-eating contest Friday. The contest and prize melons came courtesy of Paul White (behind Conner in photo, with his daughter at right) of @whites_family_farm.
Plan now to attend our next event, the International Garlic and Pepper Fest, on Saturday, September 7, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. nashvillefarmersmarket So Night Market is always kinda cool (see photo). It's happening this Friday with live music by @caldwelljackandthesixpack, so plan on showing up.

And between now and then we've also got 'Neighbor's Night' tonight and 'ThirstEA Thursday' tomorrow @natchezhills_at_the_market, and on Thursday 'Pint Night' @thepicnictap plus our first @nashvillecommunityeducation cooking class of their new series in the Grow Local Kitchen (sign up through NCEC).

nashvillefarmersmarket Have we ever mentioned our mums? And our pumpkins? They won't be here forever, so get yours today! We've got plenty else for you, too, until 6 p.m. nashvillefarmersmarket The Market will reopen tomorrow (Friday) at 8 a.m. Then it's our annual CSA Fair on Saturday, 10 a.m.–2 p.m. Community-supported agriculture (CSA) connects you directly with farmers when you buy "shares" of the harvest and receive portions of the crops (veggies, fruits, poultry, meat, seafood, etc.) as they're harvested.

nashvillefarmersmarket Get your fresh strawberries today from Simons or Hancock, and then pick up a berry bowl from Clay Daddy.
Or you could get really wild and load your bowl up with some @thepeachtruck product...
